COBBLE

concrete and sandstone, considered

MATERIAL

Full bodied porcelain interpreted in the soft register of poured concrete and weathered sandstone. The slow sweep of pour marks and the quiet movement of natural aggregate, brought to a calm matt finish.

FORMAT

A single slab of 600 by 1200 millimetres at 9 millimetres. Eight random faces per shade. Laid as a single field, the floor reads as a poured surface and never repeats.

PALETTE

Five shades, drawn from cream, smoke, mid grey, weathered sand and volcanic slate. Each engineered to read as a single field across a room and to hold its presence at scale.

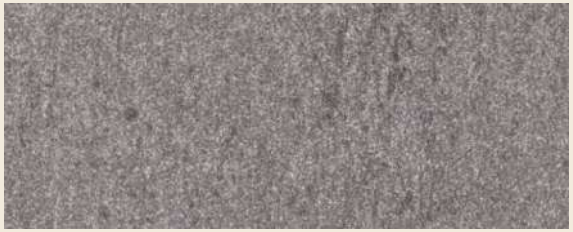
The Cobble palette, five shades.

AVORIO

Soft ivory cream

CHIARO

Pale smoke grey



CONCRETE

Mid concrete grey

LARIC

Sun bleached sand

NERO

Volcanic slate

THE COBBLE COLLECTION

Groundwork.

Where the collection begins.

Cobble is drawn from the ground itself, worn stone, riverbed and quarry floor. Earthy, grounded tones for rooms that ask to feel settled and unhurried. The range runs the full breadth of that ground, from warm sands through cool greys, each a full bodied, hard wearing surface.

THE COBBLE COLLECTION

Balance.

Considered, from every angle.

Matt, non reflective and quietly architectural, Cobble is made to recede, letting form, light and the objects of a room take the lead.

06
EASY TO MAINTAIN

The dense, full bodied surface is non porous and chemically stable. Routine maintenance asks only for a neutral cleaner.

07
LOW VOC

Free of VOCs, formaldehyde and heavy metal pigments. Safe for residential, hospitality and child occupied interiors.

08
SUSTAINABLE PRODUCTION

Sourced from a low emission facility using recycled raw materials. Recyclable at end of life. Documentation on request.

KILNSTONE MERCHANTS LTD

An invitation.

We keep our commercial conversations where they belong: across a table, not across a page. Account arrangements are considered in person, shaped to the showroom and to the project rather than to a printed rule.

We would rather understand your trade, your clientele and your intentions for the collections, and answer accordingly.

We would be glad to hear from you.
